Glove Fitting Guide

How to choose proper chemical resistant gloves

Identify the chemical you are working with.

Consult the Safety Data Sheet (SDS) on the chemical.

Check the chemical resistance guide for gloves.

Determine the physical factors involved in the glove application:

- Dexterity and flexibility
- Resistance to puncture and snags
- Abrasion resistance

Determine the needed glove length.

Test glove.

How to find the perfect fit for your hand

Proper fitting gloves are important.

Gloves too large are uncomfortable, hard to use and can be hazardous. Gloves too small are binding and cause hand fatigue.

To determine proper size, place your hand on the diagram to the right.

Measurement should be taken around the fullest part of the hand, not including the thumb. If right-handed, use right hand and vice versa.

	S	M	L	XL
Hand Width	7 - 8"	8-½ - 9"	9-½ - 10"	10-½ - 11"

Glove Information

Factors that can adversely affect the life of chemical resistant gloves

Permeation - Rate at which a chemical passes through the glove material.

Breakthrough - The elapsed time from initial chemical contact on the glove surface to actual detection of chemical in the inside of the glove.

Degradation - Change in glove properties due to chemical contact.

Swelling, softening, hardening, drying and other undesirable effects are some examples of degradation.

Latex allergen information

LATEX GLOVE CAUTION STATEMENT: This statement appears on the packaging of all latex gloves.

CAUTION: This product contains natural rubber latex which may cause allergic reactions. Users with a known sensitivity to rubber or latex products should avoid contact.

IF YOU EXPERIENCE A REACTION TO THIS PRODUCT, DISCONTINUE USE AND SEEK MEDICAL ATTENTION.

Reactions may include such phenomena as watery eyes; wheezing, hives, a rash, welts, redness, dryness, tingling or other skin irritations; hay fever-like symptoms such as sneezing, runny nose, itching throat or nose; or, tightness of the chest.

Disposable Glove Removal

You must follow safe procedures for glove removal, being careful that no pathogens from the soiled gloves contact your hands:

- With both hands gloved, peel one glove off from top to bottom and hold it in the gloved hand.
- With the exposed hand, peel the second glove from the inside, tucking the first glove inside the second.
- Dispose of the entire bundle promptly.
- Remove gloves when they become contaminated, damaged, or before leaving the work area.
- Wash hands thoroughly.
